Lincoln Statue Decorated.
In honor of the fifty-fourth anniversary of Lincoln's Gettysburg Address, the men of the "I. O. O. F. R. R. R." placed a wreath on the Lincoln statue in Union Square yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Laura J. Fink made a short talk. About 300 watched the exercises.

TWO LONG YEARS
HE SUFFERED

"Fruit-a-tives" Made Him Feel as If Walking on Air

Orilla, Ont., Nov. 20th, 1914.
"For over two years I was troubled with Constipation, Drowsiness, Lack of Appetite and Headaches. One day I saw your sign which read 'Fruit-a-tives make you feel like walking on air.' This appealed to me, so I decided to try a box. In a very short time I began to feel better, and now I feel fine. I have a good appetite, relish everything I eat, and the Headaches are gone entirely. I recommend this pleasant fruit medicine to all my friends."

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Organization of thousands of war savings societies to encourage systematic thrift and rivalry in purchase of Government savings stamps is planned by Secretary McAdoo as one of the principal features of the war saving campaign which will open Dec. 3. Ten or more persons, it was announced to-day, may form such a society and obtain a charter from the Secretary of the Treasury.
"Every member shall pledge himself or herself," says the official prospectus, "to the duty of influencing as many people as possible to save, to secure new members, to influence all members to persist in saving and saving regularly, and to promote actively the sale of war savings certificate stamps and thrift stamps."

The United States Mint is to make thousands of distinctive badges representing a liberty torch. A member securing ten new members will be given a badge marked "Soldier of Thrift." One getting twenty-five members will be given a badge ranking him as "Captain of Thrift," for fifty new members
"Major of Thrift," one hundred new members "Colonel of Thrift," and two hundred new members, "General of Thrift."

Buenos Ayres, Nov. 20.—President

SWEENEY SPLIT
EVEN CASH GIFTS
ON 50-50 BASIS

Donations of $6,000 for Comfort Kits Shared by "Ad" Man, Swann Finds.

District Attorney Swann, investigating the finances of the Army and Navy Bazaar, discovered that of $44, 900 collected by George F. Sweeney for the bazaar programme and split on a 50-50 commission basis, $6,000 had been donated by sixteen persons as a free gift to the Army and Navy Field Comforts Committee.

The District Attorney declared today that his investigation shows the entire cost of printing the programme was only $670, and that only 5,000 copies were printed. The amount taken in for advertising, so far disclosed, amounted to $44,485 of which half went to Sweeney. Mr. Swann also found that some solicitors collected as high as 25 per cent. commission for their collections.

The bazaar took in $71,475 and had only $54 for the comfort kits after expenses were paid. President Dowling of the Board of Aldermen has announced that he will immediately introduce an ordinance to license the managers of charitable bazaars and place them under bonds.

According to Mr. Swann, Sweeney admitted he had been retained to raise money in this way for other charities.
Mr. Swann said one of these is the Christmas festival of the National League for Women's Service, of which Miss Maude Wetmore is Chairman and Miss Anne Morgan, Treasurer.
The National Special Aid Society, for which Sweeney has been Executive Secretary at $50 a week since last fall, summarily dismissed him in a letter written by Warren A. Mayou, Assistant Treasurer. Officers of the society said Sweeney had not been active in it for several weeks.

In answer to requests from District Attorney Swann, there so far have appeared in the Criminal Courts Building Edward S. Moore, Assistant Secretary of the Guaranty Trust Company and Treasurer of the Army and Navy Bazaar; Waldemar H. F. N. De Hille, Managing Director of the same; Irving C. Fox, the lawyer in whose office the bazaar project was first conceived, and C. H. De Montemar, present Secretary of the Army and Navy Field Comforts Committee.

All efforts of the Prosecutor's staff to get in touch with C. Donald Fox, the original executive secretary of the bazaar failed.

While Mr. Moore was at the Criminal Courts Building he was approached by for the Grand Jury an attorney against Frederick J. Remsen, alleged to be an old time "We Boy," charged with attaching a check for $500 obtained for the bazaar program from a Wall street man named Rubens. The check was made payable to Mr. Moore as treasurer of the bazaar committee, and the charge is that Remsen introduced some unidentified man as Moore to Fritz Bentlinger, a Broad street safe keeper, who cashed the check on the endorsement of the fake Mr. Moore.

In telling the District Attorney's representative of what he had heard of the general operations of the bazaar programme, Mr. Moore said a friend of his who occupied an office across the hall from their 42d street office overheard a telephone conversation between a man in the office and the Bethlehem Steel Company.

"Do you know whom you're talking to?" this man was reported to have shouted into the receiver.
"You're talking to Mr. Moore of the Guaranty Trust Company. Do you mean to say you refuse us? Why, I'll report you to the United States Government at once!"

Mr. Swann discovered that C.
Donald Fox was the committee member in charge of obtaining the goods that went to make up the "comfort kits." The committee advertised that it could produce kits worth $1.60 for $1. This was done by giving large orders to the manufacturers. Fox was in charge of these contracts, and Mr. Swann is trying to learn whether Fox got a commission on them.

"My investigation satisfies me that there was somewhere in the history of this bazaar a conspiracy to rob the public in the name of patriotism," Mr.
Swann said. "The evidence will not go before the Grand Jury at present, but we are continuing the inquiry into this and into other supposed entertainments for the benefit of war charity."

"Of late certain alleged war charities consisting of one or two persons have taken to passing the hat in public restaurants in the name of some high sounding committee. There is no telling where the money went."

LIZZIE'S OCTOPUS
HUG TOO GENTLE
FOR MOVIE BOSSES

Film Devil Fish Just Couldn't Be Ferocious, Says Wil-ness in Suit.

The octopus-like behavior of Lizzie, the man-made devil fish in the film production of "Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea," was again set forth to-day before Federal Judge Manton in the trial of the action which J. Ernest Williamson, submarine photographer, has brought against the Universal Film Company, producers of the deep sea drama.

Williamson, who constructed Lizzie and even taught her to swim, insists that she was so perfect in every detail as to be welcome in the most exclusive octopus circles. The Universal Film Company is endeavoring to prove that Lizzie was not only shy two tentacles, but that she was absolutely lacking in the savageness that is the distinguishing characteristic of every devilfish.

A witness told yesterday how Lizzie missed her cue on several occasions and flatly refused to wiggle in front of the camera. To-day Eugene Gauddio, one of the company's witnesses, said that Lizzie failed to hug her victims, as provided for in the scenario.

Gaudio declared that instead of gripping them in her tentacles and cr-cr-r-rushing the life out of them Lizzie simply leaned up against them as if she were playing tag. Of course the divers who were working the tentacles—which were made of rubber hose—from inside Lizzie's canvas house were partly responsible for her conduct, but primarily it was due to her own gentle disposition. She just couldn't bring herself to hurt any one.
They prodded her, made faces at her, pleaded with her—all to no purpose.

Nope, Lizzie refused to be brutal, the witness averred. Finally, in order to get the proper effect, the victims had to wrap themselves in her tentacles.

Judge Manton, noting that some of the jurors appeared to be getting sick, urged the attorneys to stop diving into technicalities and stay on the surface long enough to finish the case. A report that the jury would retire to the Aquarium to discuss its verdict could not be confirmed.

Central Scheme Inspected.
The West Side Investigating Commission appointed by Gov. Whitman made a tour of inspection yesterday, starting at St. John's Park and going northward over the site of the proposed New York Central improvement. To-day the commission will hold an executive session at the office of its counsel, John C.
Clark, at No. 145 Broadway, and may determine then upon a date on which to begin public hearings.

You Can't Brush Or Wash Out Dandruff
The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, you get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon.
Dissolve it in water, and use it to apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.
Do this to-night, and by morning, most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop at once, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and never fails to do the work.—Adv.

IRIGOYEN REVIVES PROJECT.
Congress of Neutral Latin-American Nations to Be Called.
BUENOS AYRES, Nov. 20.—President Irigoyen has revived the project for a congress of neutral Latin-American nations, although several attempts to assemble such a conference have failed.
The President will shortly issue a call

persons, it was announced to-day, may
form such a society and obtain a charter from the Secretary of the Treasury.
ing regularly, and to promote actively

The United States Mint is to make
thousands of distinctive badges representing a liberty torch. A member securing ten new members will be given
a badge marked "Soldier of Thrift."
One getting twenty-five members will
be given a badge ranking him as "Captain of Thrift," for fifty new members
"Major of Thrift," one hundred new
hundred new members, "General of Thrift."

Irigoyen has revived the project for a
congress of neutral Latin-American nations, although several attempts to assemble such a conference have failed.
for the congress.
Fernando Saguer will soon be named Foreign Minister, in place of Honorio Pueyrredon.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Organization of thousands of war savings so-
and rivalry in purchase of Government
savings stamps is planned by Secretary McAdoo as one of the principal
persons, it was announced to-day, may
form such a society and obtain a char-
